

Patrick and Jamie Nachtigall
Regional Coordinators for Europe-Middle East

Missions Focus: Patrick and Jamie have embraced the role of Regional Coordinators in Europe and the Middle East. Their responsibilities include

- serving as liaisons between Global Missions of Church of God Ministries and the missionaries and national leaders in that part of the world
- joining with national leaders in strategic planning and implementation of ministries
- supervising, counseling, and coordinating missionaries
- establishing budgets and fundraising for missions ministries

Prior to accepting this assignment as a Regional Coordinators to Europe and the Middle East in 2010, Patrick and Jamie served as career missionaries in Hong Kong for nine years.

Patrick was adopted by missionaries Harry and Jene Nachtigall in San Jose, Costa Rica. His family eventually settled in Portland, Oregon where they became an active part of the Tigard Church of God. Patrick later served as an associate pastor in Tigard and New Haven, Connecticut. He is an ordained minister in the Church of God.

Both Jamie's parents (Russ and Sharon Skaggs) and her grandparents served as missionaries for the Church of God in Egypt. From age eight to eighteen, Jamie grew up and went to school in Cairo. Like Patrick, she is a TCK (third-culture kid) and has always felt comfortable traveling the world.

Jamie and Patrick both graduated from Anderson University. Patrick also holds a master's degree from Yale University, where he studied the role of Christianity during the process of modernization in the People's Republic of China. Between the two of them, they have traveled to nearly sixty countries around the world.

Patrick and Jamie's son Marco is also a fantastic traveler and loves exploring new places and cultures. He also loves all things Lego and Star Wars.

The Nachtigalls view their life together as a great adventure.
